

Maxie's Home

I decided to change her name and she knows it, It's Maxie [previously named "Seven"]. She comes (most of the time) when I call her. She'll jump up in bed with me to see what I want and sometimes she'll curl up with me and snooze. She's got a hiding place that I'm not sure where it is. One day I had to step out and opened the pantry to get a bottle of water. When I got back there was no Maxie but when I called I could hear her meow. Opened the pantry door and there she was. But oh that mystery hiding place. She went into hiding one afternoon and I couldn't find her. She wouldn't come out when I called. So I did something else and looked again in about half an hour. Still couldn't find her. I called my mom and while I was on the phone with her, I turn around and there's Maxie! "Was you lookin' for me?" her face said. lol

Here's some pics of her. She has a fuzzy blankie to lay on on the couch. She curls up in my recliner too. And she likes my computer chair even while I'm sitting here. As you can see in one pic amongst the group, she had designs on my sandwich. lol
